Charles F. Reed, department commander of West Virginia, has his headquarters and private suite at the Bowhatan. He arrived today from his home in Wheeling.

For 1913, the last year for which the official record is in, more than 1,000 changes in name were allowed and decreed by the probate judges of Massachusetts.

BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 28.—Mrs. J. Gale Ebert of Parkersburg, president of the West Virginia Equal Suffrage Association addressed an interested audience in the Methodist Episcopal church, Saturday evening. Mrs. Ebert's logical and sane presentation of her subject with her pleasing personality make her a speaker of much influence. She was introduced by Rev. B. B. Stout, who in his usual convincing and eloquent manner, gave a brief history
